Outpatient Internal Medicine — Referral Date: 24 Sep 2026

Referring Physician

Referring physician	Dr. Faisal S., Outpatient Internal Medicine
Referred to	Dr. K. Farooq, Gastroenterology
Patient name	Layla Ahmed
MRN	MRN-90344
Date of birth	29 Jul 2001
Referral date	24 Sep 2026

Reason for Referral

I am referring Ms. Ahmed, a 25-year-old female, for gastroenterology evaluation of recurrent epigastric discomfort and intermittent bloating over the past three months, partially responsive to over-the-counter antacids. She has a known sulfa drug and latex allergy, documented and confirmed with the patient directly.

Relevant History

No significant past medical history. No NSAID use. Family history notable for a maternal aunt with celiac disease. Basic metabolic panel and complete blood count performed in clinic were unremarkable. H. pylori stool antigen test pending at time of this referral.

Requested Specialty Input

Kindly assess for possible functional dyspepsia versus early-stage structural GI pathology; endoscopic evaluation at your discretion. Please advise on management and whether further investigation (e.g. celiac serology) is warranted given the family history noted above. Follow-up appointment requested within 3 days given symptom persistence.

Attachments

Basic metabolic panel, CBC, and clinic progress notes available on request via the Sample General Hospital records system.
